

Mission and Vision

PromoNotes is not only our job but also our passion.

That passion is the manufacturing of the highest quality customized printed advertising paper products. Unwaveringly, for over 20 years it has brought us both the pleasure and the satisfaction. Our passion is supported by the experience and the competence. Our responsibility is to provide our customers with the highest quality of products and great flexibility in responding to their requests.

We are deeply committed to our passion and duty. Each and every day, our team of specialists focuses on providing the highest quality of products. We do the utmost to keep the best relations with all of our commercial partners. This is our key to success!

In order to meet and exceed the requirements of a changing market, we have identified three areas in which our passion is combined with experience and commitment, and in which we will invest our resources and efforts in the future. These are innovation, creating flexible possibilities, our knowledge.

Innovation

Innovative solutions and products are the way in which we realize our passion.

Creating flexible possibilities

We concentrate on creating possibilities as flexibly adjusted to needs and expectations of customers who represent various branches and industries as possible. We unwaveringly strive to expand the range of products in order to meet your expectations.

Our knowledge

The foundations of everything we do is knowledge of needs and expectations of our customers.
